Dear Tenderer,

OUTCOME-BASED PROCUREMENT

Please note that the Government is implementing a new tendering scheme, called the “Outcome-Based Procurement”, for this particular tender. An explanation of the new scheme can be found in Clause 2 of Part 1 Section A Instructions to Tenderers in this Outcome-Based Procurement.

The Outcome-Based Procurement scheme arises from an innovation procurement initiative launched by the Info-Communications Development Authority of Singapore. The aim of the Outcome-Based Procurement scheme is to cater for collaboration between the Government and ICT suppliers to enable co-development of ICT solutions to better meet the Government’s outcomes and objectives.

Under this Outcome-Based Procurement, shortlisted Tenderers will be conducting pilot trials for their proposed Solution. Thereafter, the Government may grant a final award to a Tenderer for the supply of the Solution.

Particulars of this Outcome-Based Procurement can be found in the enclosed documents, and all Tenderers are urged to study their terms very carefully.

Yours faithfully,

Jaime Quek
